

The Sanax system

[science improving on nature]

In our quest for the fountain of eternal youth we have come to understand that the outer reflects the inner . . . in order to look and feel young, we must maintain inner health through diet and exercise. Thus we are turning to a wide variety of therapies and modalities which reverse the toll that time and trudging have taken on our faces and figures.

Sanax

Bio-energetic frequencies are available in impulses of differing lengths, rhythms and vibratory levels, as well as in polarity and wave forms depending on the application and the body's needs. For example: for surface skin SANAX operates in impulses at 100hz, in wave form impulses at 10-30hz for lymphatic drainage, waste and toxin elimination and the breakdown of blockages; and at between 0 and 15hz for stimulation of the energy meridians.

The New SANAX Bio-energetics system is a multi-functional device which was first introduced to Australia in 1984 and fully updated in 1995. It is a compact computerised stimulator which has been accredited to the highest international standards.
